WorkFirst Web Site Moves to New Address

Washington WorkFirst moved its Web site today to <http://www.workfirst.wa.gov>. The address change was needed because the Web site was moved to a different government server.

Please change your bookmarks and update any links on your organization's Web site.

For the next several months, users who attempt to access the former address, <http://www.wa.gov/workfirst>, will be redirected to the new site.

The new site, <http://www.workfirst.wa.gov>, is the official Web site of WorkFirst, Washington's welfare-to-work strategy. It contains news releases, research, fact sheets, program descriptions, success stories, and other information of interest to reporters, employers, participants, policy makers, state staff, and others.

For questions or to report any problems with the new Web site, please call Kathy Davis at (360) 586-4066.
